Subject: Comment to comment in QAP

To Whom it May Concern:

With regard to a comment made by United Developers regarding cost per unit submission and that developers should be held to their last cost cert per unit number- I respectfully request this suggestion not be implemented. Given that our applications have not been competitive in the last two cycles we plan to amend both our design (specifically our two-story direct entry design would be replaced with a more conventional three-story breezeway product) and potentially our choice of contractor (if one can be found that provides more competitive pricing) if we submit 2015 applications. I would assume other groups that utilize third-party builders and have not been successful will be doing the same.

Kind regards,

Holly Douglas
